

Sir Roland Wilson Foundation Annual Prizes 2023

Call for nominations

The Sir Roland Wilson Foundation prizes celebrate Sir Roland Wilson and Pat Turner scholar and alumni excellence and recognise outstanding contributions to academia, public policy, administration and management in the Australian Public Service (APS).

The Foundation offers four prizes annually:

The Joan Uhr Prize for the current Sir Roland Wilson scholar who has made the greatest contribution to public policy research in the past year, and to strengthening the links between The Australian National University (ANU) and the APS.

The Sir Roland Wilson Pat Turner Prize (research) for the Sir Roland Wilson Pat Turner scholar who has made the greatest contribution to public policy research in the past year, and to strengthening the links between ANU, Charles Darwin University and the APS.

The Sir Roland Wilson Pat Turner Prize (coursework) for the Sir Roland Wilson Pat Turner scholar who has achieved the highest Weighted Average Mark while undertaking a post-graduate coursework program in semester of that year. (Nb. Nominations are not necessary for this prize, as all Pat Turner Coursework scholars participate automatically).

The Sir Roland Wilson Ian Castles Alumni Prize for the Foundation alumnus, from either scholarship program, who has achieved extraordinary success in their field/s, and/or made outstanding contributions to the alumni network, and/or public policy in Australia and/or internationally.

Nominations are open for the Joan Uhr Prize, the Sir Roland Wilson Pat Turner Prize (research), and the Sir Roland Wilson Ian Castles Alumni prize.

The Foundation will accept nominations from academic supervisors, APS mentors, Board members or other senior leaders from either the APS or University (preferably SES Band 2 or above)

Nominations open on 4 September 2023. Please return completed nomination form to srw.foundation@anu.edu.au by 18 September 2023.

For more information visit: <https://srwfoundation.anu.edu.au>

Sir Roland Wilson Foundation Annual Prizes 2023

Nomination form – Joan Uhr Prize

Nominee's name
Nominee's agency
Joan Uhr Prize For the current Sir Roland Wilson scholar who has made the greatest contribution to public policy research in the past year, and to strengthening the links between ANU and the APS. Selection criteria Please address all three criteria and provide details on how the nominee meets the criteria. Your statement should provide sufficient detail to enable the selection panel to make an informed decision about the merits of your nomination. Please do not assume pre-existing knowledge about the nominee. 1. Impact: Conducting high quality, relevant and accessible research that has the potential to address public policy challenges within their agency and across the APS more broadly. 2. Service: Strong record of engagement with the public service and/or tertiary sector to enhance the accessibility and uptake of research and evidence-informed policy. 3. Results: Demonstrated ability to build networks across ANU and the APS to deliver tangible outcomes.
Insert text (max 500 words)
Your name
Position
Contact details (phone and email)

Please return completed nomination form to srw.foundation@anu.edu.au
by 18 September 2023.

Sir Roland Wilson Foundation Annual Prizes 2023

Nomination form – Pat Turner Prize

Nominee's name
Nominee's agency
Sir Roland Wilson Pat Turner Prize (research) For the Sir Roland Wilson Pat Turner scholar who has made the greatest contribution to public policy research in the past year, and to strengthening the links between ANU, CDU and the APS. Please address all three criteria and provide details on how the nominee meets the criteria. Your statement should provide sufficient detail to enable the selection panel to make an informed decision about the merits of your nomination. Please do not assume pre-existing knowledge about the nominee. Selection criteria: 1. Impact: Conducting high quality, relevant and accessible research that has the potential to address public policy challenges within their agency and across the APS more broadly. 2. Service. Strong record of engagement with the public service and/or tertiary sector to enhance the accessibility and uptake of Indigenous-led research and evidence informed policy. 3. Results: Demonstrated ability to build networks across ANU and the APS to deliver tangible outcomes.
Insert text (max 500 words)
Your name
Position
Contact details (phone and email)

Please return completed nomination form to srw.foundation@anu.edu.au by 18 September 2023.

Sir Roland Wilson Foundation Annual Prizes 2023

Nomination form – Ian Castles Alumni Prize

Nominee's name
Nominee's agency
Sir Roland Wilson Ian Castles Alumni Prize For the Sir Roland Wilson or Pat Turner alumnus, who has achieved extraordinary success in their field/s, and/or made outstanding contributions to the alumni network, and/or public policy in Australia and/or internationally. Please address all three criteria and provide details on how the nominee meets the criteria. Your statement should provide sufficient detail to enable the selection panel to make an informed decision about the merits of your nomination. Please do not assume pre-existing knowledge about the nominee. Selection criteria: 1. Impact: Improving evidence informed public policy in Australia and/or internationally, and has made outstanding contribution to their profession, community or field of expertise. 2. Service: Demonstrated commitment to giving back to the public service, and /or tertiary sector and bettering the lives of others through their professional or academic efforts. 3. Results: Contributing to the Foundation's alumni network to build cohesion, enable lasting connections, and strengthen the capacity of alumni to promote research and evidence-informed policy across the public service and/or tertiary sector.
Insert text (max 500 words)
Your name
Position
Contact details (phone and email)

Please return completed nomination form to srw.foundation@anu.edu.au by 18 September 2023.